

7th and 8th Grade Summer Reading

Summer reading is critical to our students' overall development and should be a joint responsibility of the school and home. All middle school students should read a minimum of two books, one fiction and one non-fiction. I am asking that each student complete the review forms for each of the two books. The purpose of these forms is to encourage students to think about what they have read and to respond in a clear, succinct, and substantive manner.

Have a wonderful, blessed summer!
